Arrangements were made yesterday with the chamber of commerce for the deputy to establish a temporary office in the chamber rooms in the Copper Queen hotel building.

On Monday, he said applications should be made with the special deputy in the chamber of commerce rooms. The last-minute rush to secure auto licenses has kept Haigler at top speed throughout every day for the past week.

FORMER BISBEE GIRL IS DROWNED; DETAILS OF ACCIDENT ARE LACKING

It was learned yesterday that the wife of the James Lamb Jr., who was reported drowned at Deep River, Wash., on Christmas Day, was formerly Miss Jessie Brown, or Cantry, a Bisbee girl.

She was reared in Bisbee, her mother being Mrs. M. Cantry, afterward Mrs. Ralph Brown. After her mother's marriage to Brown Miss Jesse took the name of Brown. She resided here with her parents until 1917, when they moved to California. They came back to Tombstone in 1920 for a few months and there she met her future husband. They were married in Los Angeles about two years ago.

No details were received of her death. A telegram was received in Tombstone by her husband's father stating that she had been drowned on Christmas Day. It is expected that further information will be received within the next few days.

MUCH ACTIVITY NOTICEABLE AT MILL AND HILL

Work of Overhauling Shovels and Repairing Tracks Is Proceeding Rapidly

Actual preparations for opening the new concentrator at Warren and resuming steam shovel operations on Sacramento Hill are under way by the Copper Queen Branch, Phelps Dodge Corporation. The work of getting the mill and hill in shape for actual production is going ahead with all possible speed.

C. B. Cline, who has had charge of remodeling the Motezuma Copper Company's mill at Nacozari, has been in the district making a preliminary survey of the new Copper Queen mill, preparatory to taking charge of the construction work to be done at the Warren plant. He will return to Bisbee in about 10 days and take over supervision of work at the new mill.

In the meantime, H. C. Rolfe, mill construction carpenter foreman, formerly of Nacozari, is in charge of construction work at the mill, with a force of 10 men, fixing up decks for conveyor belts, placing conveyor belt idlers, etc. As fast as carpenters are released from construction work at the Nacozari mill they will be transferred to the local mill.

A considerable force is already overhauling steam shovels, dinky locomotives, dump cars and other "Sac" Hill equipment. Another crew of 25 men, is going over the narrow gauge tracks leveling, reballasting and otherwise getting them in shape for active operations.

A churn drill was yesterday moved to the south end of the Lowell yards to clean out some holes already drilled. As soon as cleaned these holes will be shot and excavation made to make room for a gathering yard where trains of ore and waste will be made up to go to the mill and waste dumps, respectively.

After excavations at the yards have been completed, the steam shovel used in the excavation work will be moved to Sacramento Hill and started on the work of cleaning up one of the big benches that terrace the hill. Other steam shovels will be put on "Sac" Hill just as fast as they can be over-hailed and necessary shovel crews recruited.

Rumors that underground production would be cut down with the resumption of surface operations on "Sac" Hill were said yesterday to be without foundation. From the Copper Queen general offices here it was announced that no reduction of underground production was contemplated, and that it was not believed any reduction would be ordered in the future providing the demand for copper continues to grow as it has during the past few months.

December production from the mines here, it was said, would probably be larger than the output for any other month this year.

Hitting the ground is much easier than hitting a golf ball because the ground is so much larger.
